Public Health - Disarray or Challenge

Dear Friends,

It is with a great deal of emotion that I submit to you my last written message as President of NCPHA. Public Health and NCPHA mean so much to me, and I feel honored and privileged to have played a leadership roll in the Association.

I have been in state government for 21 years, but came to public health only 9 years ago. The circumstances upon which I entered the field of public health were unusual and painful at the time. However, becoming a public health worker was the best thing to occur in my professional life! And I want to publicly thank all those who made this happen! Our mission is critical, and our family of workers is unsurpassed in commitment and hard work.

I personally believe that the public health system in North Carolina is not in disarray! Instead it is strained by multiple priorities and service needs that are accompanied by a distinct lack of resources. I feel confident that through strategic planning and advocacy, we will meet the challenge that faces us.

On behalf of the Officers and Governing Council, I welcome you to the 78th Annual Meeting of NCPHA. At this meeting, we bring to culmination the efforts of many members who have worked so hard this year. We have won some battles; we have lost some. I feel that the emphasis on public health is stronger and that we as an Association are more visible. But there is yet much to be done.

My hope is that each of you finds a special spark of inspiration at this meeting to make the long road ahead a bit easier to travel.

In the spirit of public health,

Ann Wolfe
President, NCPHA

Dear NCPHA Members,

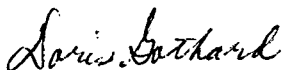

As we take time from our regular work schedules to come together for this annual conference, may we take advantage of this opportunity to share ideas, gain new insights and accept the challenge of developing goals toward a health system that will, indeed, benefit a broader sector of the public. If we are to make a difference, health professionals must work together and be active in voicing not only our concerns but to actively advocate for the reforms we feel are essential.

The program subcommittee has planned the general sessions to bring us up-to-date information on current issues. The sections are presenting a wide variety of workshops to generate our thinking and provide professional stimulation. There are activities for fun and fellowship. This is a time for renewing ourselves through education and fellowship.

This year of planning for the 78th NCPHA Annual Conference has been an enriching opportunity for me. The program subcommittee and the section program chairpersons have very generously contributed their time and expertise to develop this program which we proudly present. I extend my deepest appreciation to this group of program planners and to the local arrangements committee for all their work and support.

Public health professionals in North Carolina are working diligently to provide vital services. North Carolina health services are not in disarray. There are new challenges before us and together we can make a difference.

Sincerely,

Doris Gothard

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

1. ADULT HEALTH PROMOTION and PUBLIC HEALTH MANAGEMENT

Avoiding Premature Death of Your Health Promotion Program: Ensuring Long-Term Viability of Programs

The workshop is a module which will depict ways that the School of Public Health can work collaboratively with state and local health departments to establish firm practice links. Based on institutionalization research conducted by UNC-CH School of Public Health, the workshop will identify practical steps to take to ensure long term viability of health promotion programs in agencies; i.e., program institutionalization.

2. COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSISTANTS/MANAGEMENT SUPPORT/NURSING

Wet Feet to Swamp Moss: Assessing Your Clients' Health Beliefs

This workshop is designed to assist public health professionals assess their own health beliefs and those of their clients in order to interact with sensitivity and integrate the clients' beliefs into plans for health care.

3. DEVELOPMENTAL REHABILITATION

Origins of Cerebral Palsy

New research now makes it possible to identify causes of most cases of cerebral palsy. A discussion of this research will be presented and should be of interest to all those working with women and children.

The Kids on the Block

An educational puppet show to share accurate information on developmental disabilities. This innovative method of information sharing is used primarily with elementary school children but is guaranteed to entertain and enlighten us.

4. ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH

SESSION A

Salmonella Enteritidis in Eggs

A discussion of Salmonella Enteritidis and its transovarian transfer from the hen to the egg. Highlights of the Virginia Salmonella Enteritidis outbreaks traceable to whole shell eggs and possible implications for North Carolina.

SESSION B (with VECTOR CONTROL)

Innovative Vector Control for Institutions and Foodhandling Establishments

Participants will learn about the cockroach and house fly biology, behavior and control. They will be taught to recognize the physical and biological factors that lead to large populations of these pests in institutional settings. The presenters are from the Department of Entomology, N.C. State University and the Vector Control Branch, N.C. Division of Health Services.

SESSION C

Local, National and International Professionalism

Regional Vice President for NEHA Region 7, will talk about professionalism, what it is, and how a total concept of professionalism can benefit the practice of environmental health and environmental protection. He will also discuss regionalism as related to the 1990 NEHA Annual Education Conference which will be held in Charlotte.

SESSION D

A Look at How We Serve the Public, How We Listen to Their Problems, How We Perform, and How We Sell Our Purpose and Program Successfully

The speaker will provide guidance and direction that should enhance a sanitarians ability to communicate with clients. Included in the presentation will be issues such as the need of improvements in one's professional image to the public, as well as his/her attitude about the role of a sanitarian and his/her contribution to society. The speaker will also provide new points and insights of environmental health problems as viewed from the various positions that he has held.

SESSION E

Tony's Perfect Pizza Contested Case Hearing

This session will be a mock hearing involving an attempt by a local health department to suspend the permit to operate a restaurant. Reasons for the notice of intent to suspend being issued include alleged food temperature violations, vermin control violations, and sewage disposal violations. The audience will participate by listening to the testimony and make a finding for the health department or for the restaurateur. This session should prove to be educational as well as entertaining.

EPIDEMIOLOGY/STATISTICS

Hepatitis B: Update in North Carolina

The purpose of this presentation is to update participants on Hepatitis B virus infection and HB vaccine usage and its impact on disease incidence since licensure in 1982.

6. LABORATORY

Newborn Screening - The Laboratory Challenge of The Future

Children are our future, so it is only fitting that newborn screening should be the "growing child" of the laboratory's future. Newborn screening is no longer just PKU and thyroid testing, but also galactosemia, hemoglobinopathies (Sickle Cell, Hgb F, etc.), and most recently, congenital adrenal hyperplasia screenings. And who knows what else may lie in the future? The possibilities are limitless and the enthusiasm is ever growing! This workshop is designed to instruct on the importance of proper specimen collection and its technique, the interpretation and significance of the results obtained, and a brief description of the test methodologies and the disease it aids in diagnosing. It should appeal to nurses, nurse practitioners, laboratory personnel, and anyone involved in a child health program.

7. MATERNAL CHILD HEALTH/SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED DISEASE/SOCIAL WORK

Congenital Syphilis and Pediatric AIDS

Discussion of the epidemiology of congenital syphilis and pediatric AIDS as well as discussion of the family psycho-social issues of AIDS.

8. NUTRITION

Quality of Nutrition in School Lunch Programs

The speaker will discuss and identify various aspects of planning school lunch programs. Also to be presented is the significance of school lunches in the nutritional requirements of school-age children.

9. SOCIAL WORK

Unleashing Your Creative Energy

Ways of applying creative energy in your professional life.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH- IN THE MULTITUDE OF COUNSELORS THERE IS WISDOM

We have returned to the place where it all began. The first meeting of our association was held in Charlotte on June 20, 1911. The present meeting represents the eleventh occasion the association has met in the city of Charlotte. These gatherings will be remembered by various people for many reasons, but this short article will focus on the first meeting.

On Wednesday, June 20, 1911, seventy-six "public healthers" gathered at the inaugural meeting of the North Carolina Health Officers' Association. The organization was known by this name from 1911 until 1921 when it became the North Carolina Public Health Association. The surviving records of the meeting indicate that forty-seven county superintendents of health, eight municipal health officers, and twenty-one members of boards of health attended the first meeting. Two years and four days earlier a brief organizational gathering of this group had occurred at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville on June 16, 1909.

The Asheville and Charlotte meetings were held in conjunction with the annual conventions of the North Carolina Medical Society. During its formative years, the complete minutes of the Health Officers' Association meetings were published in the Transactions of the North Carolina Medical Society. The North Carolina Medical Society had previously provided the leadership and the forum for the formation of the state board of health on February 12, 1877, and the society now provided the forum for the creation of the North Carolina Health Officer's Association at its 1909 and 1911 conventions. Therefore, it is important to acknowledge the role the medical society played in creating the public health agency of the state and also the important forum it offered for the establishment of the North Carolina Health Officers' Association.

The seventy-six attendees at the June 20th meeting heard a rousing speech, approved a constitution and bylaws, and passed their first resolution. The speech, entitled "The Advantages of a North Carolina Health Officers' Association" was delivered by Dr. Richard Henry Lewis, a native of Pitt County and former secretary-treasurer of the state board of health. Dr. Lewis had succeeded Dr. Thomas Fanning Wood of Wilmington in 1892 to become North Carolina's second state health officer, an office he held until 1909. The first words of the first speech delivered at an association meeting were "In union there is strength, in the multitude of counselors there is wisdom". In addition, Dr. Lewis presented the following observations:

One of the special advantages of an organization of this kind is the opportunity it affords for comparing experiences, not only in public discussion, but in private talks. There are very few if any of us who cannot learn something from our associates that will be helpful. One of the greatest advantages of all, in my opinion, is the vivifying effect it will have in stirring up and renewing our interest in the work with which we are charged.

In union there is strength, and if we all get together something will have to give, and we will advance the cause of the public health, which means the greatest good to all the people.

The association then adopted a constitution and a set of bylaws. It is interesting to note that the bylaws provided for annual dues of one dollar and that regular members shall have one vote, regular volunteer members two votes, and contributing members three votes in all decisions coming before the Association. The first resolution passed by the association called for the state board of health and the state medical society to address the issue of uniform compensation for health officers.

The July, 1911 Bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health published an editorial which acknowledged the first meeting of the association. Some of the observations of the editorial included:

At Charlotte on the 20th of June, 1911, one of the most necessary steps for the advancement of the public work in North Carolina was taken in the organization of the North Carolina Health Officers' Association....

Out of this will come more uniform and effective methods in health work; the contagious enthusiasm of the man whose heart is in his work will be imparted to the man who does health work for the small salary he gets. . .

After electing Dr. L. B. McBrayer, of Asheville, President, and Dr. L. N. Glenn, of Gastonia, as vice-President, and Dr. W. S. Rankin, of Raleigh, Secretary and Treasurer...The association adjourned.

The June 20th meeting ended with plans to continue to meet annually. The second meeting was held on June 17, 1912 in Hendersonville. Our present gathering represents the seventy-eighth annual meeting of the association. An association of seventy-six persons with a budget of forty dollars in 1911 has grown to one of over seventeen hundred members with a budget of almost ninety thousand dollars today. As you enjoy this meeting, reflect for a moment on the sacrifices others have made so that we may be here and then ask, "Where is my place of service?"

- Dan Shingleton
